ST GILMER & SALISBURY'S HAMILTON LINE J Levin DEPARTURES.

BY GILMER & SALISBURY'S HAMILTON LINE: WE have received a letter from an opulent citizen of Salem, Mass. (the place where they turned witches in the good old times), enclosing a ten-cent postage stamp and a request that we should by return mail sendafull and complete history of the fire on Lacour street last May. We were somewhat appalled by the magnitude of the amount enclosed, but as we heard of no failures or financial embarrassments resulting in Salem, we took coursgs and went to work. Virtue is its own reward and we have prepared an account of the conflagration, so graphic, so true to nature and so touchingly eloquent in its simplicity to the opulent and large-hearted Salem scription. It has been the work of our spare moments, moments snatched from hours of weary and unceasing toil; it will cost 18 cents (so Charley Meyers says who has "hefted" it) to send it to Salem town and we are undesided.

JOHN D. RANDOLPH, a native of New Jersey, died at his residence on Cedar street yesterday at twelve o'clock. He has for a long time past been suffering from the effects of a caucer, which has been operated on for some time without effect. Death finally ended his sufferings yesterday. His funeral will take place to day at 2 o'clock from his late abode on Cedar street, opposite the residence of A. J. Blair. During the last month of his illness he has been waited on by Thos. W. Brown, who has paid him every attention without hope of re-

A LIVELY SPURT, -At one time during yesterday the main street of Pioche presented an animated appearance, with the arrival of the Eureka and Palisade Railroad teams, also wood teams, and the loading up and departures of other teams with mercandise for Bell-ville. This lasted, however, only a few hours, as after that the place subsided to its monotonous quietness.

J. LEVIN arrived on yesterday's buckboard from Eureka. Mr. Levin was a former resident of Picche, and was the starter of the firm of J. Levin & Co. in the cigar business, the store of which firm is now conducted by Mr. Krause, one of the partners. For over two years Mr. Levin has been carrying on business in Eureka. xplosives is about to be introduced to stock. It is known as Excelsior powder, and various points of merit are claimed for it over any explosive compound yet invented, among which are the following: It is cheaper than any of the best; it is safer than any; it contains no sulphur, phosphorus, glycerins or similar elements, which make other explosives so dangerous to handle, and causing them to explode when least expected, it is composed of ingredients in common domestic and medical use, none of which are at all deleterious; its power is equal to the most effective of explosives now in use, and above all, it creates no deleterious gas or smoke; what little smoke proceeds from an explosion being inhaled with perfect impunity. This certainly is a great and highly important some himself. The above we find in the Gold Hill News. A trial of it will be made shortly when we can report further relative to its usefulness. The giant powder smoke is horribly oppressive in a narrow drift and should the new powder be what is claimed for it we have no doubt it will come in favor with our mining men in

PACIFIC COAST.

San Faancisco, August 16.—Captain Nelson, of the British bark Abbey Cowper, which arrived here yesterday, states that on July 3d while in latitude 39 deg. and 10 min. N., and longitude, 16 deg. and 35 min., he sighted a vessel apparently dismasted, with signals flying. He found the wreck to be that of a Japan-ese junk bound from Hong Kong to Yokohama, and had left the former port on the 9th of November, 1875. The junk had been dismasted, after which it had drifted hopelessly about. The master and nine of the crew had died from four to six months ago of scurvy, and the two survivors had saited them down in the hold, the stench from which was borrible. They had thrown the cargo of salt fish overboard. The survivors were in a most deplorable condition from scurvy, one being perfectly black and entirely helpless, and the other was not so bad, but both very much emaciated, having nothing but dry rice with what can be given. A dispatch from Belgrade says while war preparations continue actively and while even the peace party consider any fate preferable to the deposition of Prince Milan and annexation of any part of Servia to Turkey or even a period of Purkish rule here at the same time a depression of spirits and desire for peace among the moderate party and Servian people generally make the intervention of powers to be anxiously looked for in the hope it would bring peace without any of the above conditions, which it is f-ared the Turks desire to impose. Rather than accept any one of those, the moderate party will support the government to continue the struggle until Servia conquers or can't fight any longer. They say the deposition of the Prince of Milan, would occasion a dypastic civil war, which would retard the progress of the country 20 years. As for Turkish rule the foremost men of Service and main opponents of the war say, i's better that all Servians perish in the struggle than submit; that it is evident if the intervention of the powers does not bring peace, no arrangement between the beingerents themselves is likely.

London, Aug. 16.-Market for silver to-day is unsettled and no quotations
